Characteristics

These pads lower the risk of contamination in the food industry, when used according to HACCP, and the colour coding for the various cleaning jobs prevents cross contamination between different rooms. Since they are machine washable and therefore easy to keep clean, bacterial growth is prevented. With a safe scrubbing effect, even on sensitive surfaces, they are durable (and will leave almost no fibres behind on the surface). The top mesh structure gives the pad four times more cleaning power, while the small polyurethane balls in the sponge accentuate the user's finger pressure.
